

ARTFEST March 28 - April 1, 2012

WHAT IS ARTFEST

This will be our 13th anniversary of doing Artfest at Fort Worden and attendees continue to say that it just gets better and better every year! Artfest was the original alternative arts retreat to combine so many different types of art workshops as well as having a place for the teachers and artists to sell their wares and have some extracurricular events. While our workshops are the cream of the crop, it is our evening events, the location and the attendees who come that sets Artfest apart from other events. People leave with brand new friendships that last for years, new groups that they stay involved with long after the event is over, a renewed sense of their artistic selves and a recharged battery to take back with them to their normal lives. It is a very nourishing event for your creative selves. There is magic that happens in Port Townsend during the event that no one can explain, but everyone feels.

The workshops are full day, 6 hour sessions (with a 90 minute lunch break) designed to provide not only several techniques learned throughout the day but time enough to actually work on what has been learned so that it can sink in and a nice chunk in the middle of the day to renew yourself and visit with friends. The teachers come from all over the United States, Canada, England & Australia and represent some of the best in their fields.

We offer an exciting artist's marketplace on Friday night, providing a rare opportunity to buy original artwork from many of the best alternative artists around the country. You can find everything from found art jewelry, to assemblage art, mixed media paintings, handmade charms, purses, prints, hand-bound journals, funky zines, art dolls, textile artwork, and various other one-of-a-kind works for sale. This is an exciting time to pick up original work that sells for much higher prices in galleries and such.

On Saturday night we have our show-n-tell where we invite all attendees to bring what they have made during their workshops so we can all see who made what and in which class. Many have said this was among their favorite events at Artfest. Inspiration abounds!

Thursday is the night that we encourage smaller gatherings to take place. Groups start to form within officer's houses & dorm wings as attendees meet to discuss the day's events and projects. Other online groups use this evening to meet face to face and exchange projects they may have been working on (in the months leading up to artfest) and we always host a journaling party down on the beach with a bonfire and s'more fixin's for you to enjoy. In 2012, we will continue the extremely popular Iron Chef Artist challenge that we debuted in 2010. All in all, there's something for everyone's mood that evening.

In addition, we offer a gallery so that the attendees can create works of art that can be for sale....or not for sale. We do this to allow the attendees an opportunity to make a few bucks to supplement their expenses. This is always an inspiring show that everyone loves. You can submit up to 3 pieces. No jury. More details will come in your confirmation packet.

LOCATION

Fort Worden is an old military base that is located in beautiful Port Townsend, Washington. In fact, it is SO delightful, that we have had several persons decide to move there after attending Artfest! Even though the fort is a little rough around the edges, Artfest attendees continually tell us that is what adds to it's charm. You will see deer casually walking right in front of you as you meander down to your workshops. With the ocean and the trees as your backdrop, it will take your breath away. It is approximately a 2-hour drive from the SeaTac Airport. The trip involves driving into Seattle, taking a 1/2 hour ferry to Bainbridge Island and then traveling for about an hour North up the other side of puget sound. Most folks get together (via the yahoo chat group) and share a rental car but we do offer a shuttle from the airport (for about $80 RT) for those who need it. It has only one pick up time from the airport (2pm) and one departure time back to the airport (8am) and it takes 2 hours. More details will be in your confirmation packet.

REGISTRATION

Registration begins on Sept. 1st. You may send your registration forms anytime from the moment the website is up. However, we will not process anything until the 1st of September. At that time we will process all registrations by lottery. After the 1st, registrations will be processed as they come in all the way up until the middle of march. As the workshops fill, we mark "FULL" by the ones that are no longer available. You may ask to be put on a waiting list for a full workshop only if you are registered.

PRICING

The price for Artfest is $520. This includes 3 days of workshops, goodies and all the extra events:

You may add any of the following to your package:

DESCRIPTION OF ACCOMMODATIONS:

These are old buildings built around the turn of the century. The fort has been on a path of fixing and updating many of it's accommodations for the past few years and every year we see much improvement! Still, if you think of this as going to camp, you'll be fine. If, however, you are accustomed to the best hotels, we would strongly suggest staying in town.

OFF CAMPUS - This free option is good for folks who live close to the retreat, prefer nicer accommodations, or prefer their own room with their own bathroom. Port Townsend has a gazillion b&b's available in their victorian town. There are some average motels in town as well. You can do a search on google for options.

DORMS - These buildings have very small single rooms with communal bathrooms down the hall. 2 of the dorms have communal showers but we procure extra bathrooms/showers upstairs and post sign-up sheets so everyone can have privacy while showering. We also use the men's restrooms as well to provide even more space for the women. For this reason, we do not allow men in the dorms to sleep. Linens, pillow, blanket, towels, etc. are included with each room. But some folks like to bring their own pillow and an extra blanket. Make no doubt about it, these are bare bones rooms but we have people request them every year.

OFFICERS HOUSES - These houses range from 2 bedroom units to an 11 bedroom unit. They were built for the first officers installed at Fort Worden and many have their original features including ornate tin ceilings and fireplaces. Each house has a kitchen equipped with toaster, coffee maker, fridge, oven, pans, dishes and utensils. The houses have a great living room & dining room that is perfect for spreading out what you've made during the day and sharing with your housemates. They are large with lots of space. All the rooms have one queen bed in each, so if you pick the shared option, you will be sharing a bed.

Staying in the dorms or one of the houses provides a unique experience that helps make Artfest what it is. Folks usually have show and tell each night in their house or dorm and make friends which last long after the retreat is over.

RESERVING HOUSING

If you have a group who would like to share a house or a dorm room or wing, please contact us in August with how many people you have. We will try to set a certain space aside for your group so you can all be together. However there are some rules. Everyone MUST send in their registrations by the opening day of registration. We cannot hold anything for you if you don't. We can not make any promises. And, if one or more of your group cancels, we have every right to fill that empty space with a person of our choosing. You will have the option of first finding a replacement person for the one cancelling but if that does not happen within 2 weeks, we will fill the space ourselves. When requesting, email artgirl777@aol.com in August with the names of people in your group and list who will be sharing with who. Include the name of your group (name of the organizer). We will email you back with choices.

Meals

are optional. They are served buffet style. Many attendees love mealtimes as it allows time to get to know their fellow artists better. They specialize in local, mostly organic fare and the raves from our attendees last year were loud and clear. They always provide a good selection of entrees & sides, a salad bar and a selection of desserts along with a soda fountain. We can offer a vegetarian or a gluten free option if you need it. You may add any combination of the following to your registration. Please see previous page for pricing.

WORKSHOPS

Please visit the websites of all our teachers to give you a better overall view of their work. You will see links to most when you click on their individual workshop description pages. If you have questions about any of their classes, you can email them from their websites.

ARTISTS' MARKETPLACE SPACE

is only available to registered attendees. You will be given information on applying for a juried table with your confirmation packet.

ARTFEST CHAT

There is a Yahoo group that you can join if you'd like to chat with others about the event and all things art related. This is a group that was independently set up and is not a part of Alternative Arts Productions activities. However, we read the messages when we can and try to answer any questions that arise in addition to making Artfest announcements periodically. We highly recommend that you join if you are coming to Artfest as you can find travel-mates to share a shuttle or a rental car, hear about useful techniques that the teachers sometimes throw out, find out more what to expect, keep informed of any changes, find out which off campus hotel is best, etc. The Yahoo Chat is moderated by Amy Peacock. Go to www.groups.yahoo.com and type in Artfest12 to find the group & register.

A NOTE FROM TEESHA MOORE

Artfest was a concept that consumed my every thought 13 years ago before anyone else was doing anything remotely similar. It was right after I went through a period of asking the universe "What am I here to do". When the visions started unfolding, I was excited and scared a little. But I knew that until I set the wheels in motion, my thoughts would not leave me alone. So I stepped through the first door and 13 years later, all the rest of the doors have been flung wide open for me. It is one way of knowing I am on the right path. The other way of knowing is the warmth and love that emanate from so many of the attendees year after year. I am realizing in this day and age, this is needed for so many reasons. I feel truly blessed to get to be at the helm of such an exciting adventure that has made a difference in people's lives. I was an artist with no real training but a deep desire to help others be artists too. Thankfully I had a troupe of really great teachers and friends and family who were willing to stand behind me and all pulled together to make Artfest what it is today. We work hard to create a nurturing event where everyone feels accepted regardless of where they are in their creative journey and also to show each person just how much capacity they have for creating.

Taking time out for yourself is one of the best things you can do in this busy, crazy world. Everyone needs time to just be in nature, play, be silent, gather ideas, commune with other artists, and get away from your everyday lives for a few days. It allows you to refresh and pinpoint directions you want to go in your life. The whole experience of Artfest from the drive up, the beautiful fort on the beach, the inspiring workshops, the caring teachers, the groups that form, and your fellow attendees makes it the perfect place for this to happen.
